TASTING NOTES:

In developing our own vineyard at Norton Summit in the Adelaide Hills, we have planted some Sauvignon Blanc vines. Sauvignon Blanc is fast becoming a landmark variety from the Adelaide Hills, which as a region has an Australia wide reputation for its cool climate, elegant white wines.

Until such time as we can produce a Sauvignon Blanc from our own vines, we have sourced quality fruit from vineyards in the region. Our first Adelaide Hills Sauvignon Blanc sold out quite quickly and this wine is our second from the region, and is of equally high quality.

2005 was a great vintage for whites in the Adelaide Hills, producing intense fruit flavours and this wine is a typical aromatic Adelaide Hills Sauvignon Blanc. It has been bottled as early as possible to retain maximum freshness and flavours.

A crisp, dry (but not 'bone dry'), uncomplicated, classy wine with the distinctive floral perfume of this Adelaide Hills variety. An interesting wine with balanced lemon/citrus acidity and a clean finish.

Drink now to 2008/09..
